GAS--The Ideal Cooker.

Strike a match, turn a tap, and your Cooker is ready. Just think what this means in time and labour saved. Contrast it with all the work necessary in cooking with an ordinary fire.

GAS--The Ideal Heater.

With a Gas Fire you again merely require to strike the match, turn the tap, and your room is comfortably warm in ten minutes. These fires become effective the moment after lighting, and can be immediately turned off when not required. They throw out a remarkable amount of healthy, radiant heat and are scientifically correct and artistically perfect. The ashes are left at the Gasworks and a clean fuel is delivered to you through pipes.

Users of the latest new pattern fires will testify to the fact that with the foregoing virtues the fires do not possess the vice of extravagance. The useful heat comes into the room. It is not carried up the chimney.

Every one of the difficulties of HEATING UP INTERIOR SPACES, be they Large or Small, will be successfully met by us, and we solicit your Enquiries.

No dull blades—

and no need for new ones

Smooth, close, quick, comfortable shaving is possible only with a blade that is properly stropped each time it is used. The self-contained stropping arrangement of the AutoStrop Safety Razor enables you to keep a hair-edge on each blade for many months. Remember, no skill or experience is necessary to keep AutoStrop blades in perfect condition. You also avoid the buying of new blades necessary with all non-stropping razors, and thus the pays for itself in a year. There is no handling of the blade or taking anything apart for either stropping or cleaning. Made in Great Britain.

AutoStrop SAFETY RAZOR

Don't throw good blades away.

THE COMPLETE OUTFIT INCLUDES AutoStrop Safety Razor, heavily plated, 12 certified AutoStrop Blades, certified Horsehide Strop, in case, 3¾ ins. by 2 ins. Price .. 21/- net.

Gentlemen can have a Fortnight's Trial of the AutoStrop Razor Free of Charge.

SENTENCE SERMONS.

We are to be what we are to-day.

The truth that does not liberate you enslaves you.

The wise always are willing to be called fools, but never anxious to hasten the event.

It takes more than a sisterly way to make a saint of a man.

It's a profitless task trying to lay up other people's treasures in Heaven.

You must learn to deal with odd and even in life, as well as in figures.

Learning is to the mind what dress is to the body, useful and ornamental.

"No good is certain but the steadfast mind,
The undivided will, to seek the good."

"What custom hath endear'd
We part with sadly, though we prize it not."

Friendships sown in youth furnish the sweetest fruits for old age.

Worship your heroes from afar; contact withers them.

Politeness is the golden key that unlocks the door to many an opportunity.

Serious speaking, like bagatelle, ought to be reserved as an amusement for wet days.

A florid speech without matter is like a drum—noisy, but empty.

A good deal of religious work is only a scheme for uplifting the world at so much per grunt.

Every time you try to encourage another you learn a little more of the language of Heaven.

Experience and observation are the lighthouses of reason, which direct us in our steerage through the dangerous ocean of life.

A man is very unfit to live in the world who cannot keep his temper, his secrets, and his money.

Blessed is the man who, having nothing to say, abstains from giving us wordy evidence of the fact.

Ingratitude is a poison of so deleterious a nature that it even destroys the very bosom in which it harbours.

"Save your breath to cool your broth," is a saying which cannot better be applied than to the ladies engaged at a tea-table in tittle-tattle and scandal.

If you want to know how much a thing is worth, ask the people who have not got it; if you want to know how little it is worth, ask the people who have.

It is in the power of every man to be rich, provided he will be content.

A little duty cures a lot of doubt.

That alone is learning which issues in life.

Who gives a little help finds a large piece of heaven.

The best protest against dirt is that which is made with a broom.

Prayer is a way from anxiety, but not from activity.

Bearing the cross should not give you a cross bearing.

A narrow man is the one who most easily is twisted crooked.

The piety that pulls down your face was prepared in the pit.

You cannot know the Kingdom of Heaven if you have forgotten how to be happy.

The church that does not invest in humanity has no dividends awaiting it in heaven.

There is more spirituality in a little song than in a week's sighing.

To flatter a good man is needless; a bad one an insult.

Nobility, like great rivers, has often an obscure origin.

Pedantry is the foppery of learning, as fringe and embroidery are of dress.

Riches and care are as inseparable as sun and shadow.

It is the soul and the heart which makes a man, which forms a character; talent is but the crown.

It is well to find out one's best points early in life and stick to them, as they say of friends.

Prosperity has the qualities of the waters of Lethe—they who taste of it forget themselves.

The actions of men are like the index of a book: they point out what is most remarkable in them.

It is amazing that men should affect to know everything, and yet be so deficient in the very first principle of wisdom—know thyself.

Epigrams are like the paper streamers they fling out of the boxes at a bal masque at the opera. They fall flat immediately afterwards.

It is not Fortune, but we, that are blind: for with content a little will satisfy the purposes of life: without it thousands are insufficient.

Hardship often is the name that happiness puts on her door.

NOT TILL THEN.

When God shall leave unfinished, incomplete,
A single flake within the whirl of snow,
A single feather in the airy wing
On which the butterfly floats to and fro,
A single vein within the summer leaf,
A single drop of water in the sea,
Then—not before—doubt that His perfect plan
Within the humblest life fulfilled can be.

IN MERRY MOOD.

He: "We can't go on like this. We'd better have a separation."

She: "All right. Send me away for a year to the Riviera."

Creditor: "I ask you for the last time to pay me that £5 you owe me."

Debtor: "Thank goodness there's an end to that silly question!"

"Well, how true it is," sighed the visitor, "that one-half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

"That may be true of the world in general," replied the native, "but it doesn't apply to this town."

Gracie: "Oh, Mr. Nocoyne, how lovely of you to bring me these beautiful roses! How sweet they are, and how fresh! I do believe there is a little dew on them yet!"

Nocoyne: "W—well, yes, there is, but I'll pay it to-morrow!"

Kind Lady (at children's party): "Well, my little man, and what are you going to be when you grow up?"

The Little Man (tugging at uncomfortable neckwear): "Somefin' what don't wear a collar."

Young Husband (helping himself a second time): "Bertha, where did you learn to scramble eggs like this?"

Young Wife: "Oh, George, that's a shrimp salad."

Cohen: "Vy don't you reduce der price of dose all-vool suits?"

Levy: "Vat! Vos you crazy? Vid cotton so high?"

Wife: "In a battle of tongues, a woman can hold her own."

Husband: "Perhaps! But she never does!"

Bobbs: "What was the best after-dinner speech you ever heard?"

Knobbs: "The other fellow said, 'Let me settle with the waiter!'"

She: "How far can your ancestry be traced?"

He: "Well, when my grandfather resigned his position as cashier of a country bank they traced him as far as China; but he got away."

The Professor: "I want you children to go to my lecture to-night."

Robert: "Couldn't you whip us instead, just this once, papa?"

"Who gave the bride away?"

"Her little brother. He stood up right in the middle of the ceremony and yelled: 'Hurrah, Mary, you've got him at last!'"

"She is very liberal in her charities," said one woman.

"Yes," answered the other, "liberal, but not always practical. For instance, she wanted to send alarm-clocks to Africa to aid sufferers from the sleeping sickness."

"Good morning, Bridget, hope your master and mistress have not forgotten that they're coming to dine with me to-night."

"Indeed, and they've not—they've ordered a good hearty meal at home at six o'clock."

Professor (to medical student): "Will you please name the bones of the skull?"

Student (perplexed): "I've got them all in my head, professor, but I can't think of the names at the moment."

Young Golightly (to pretty girl): "Is the seat next to you engaged, miss?"

Miss: "No; but I am. And he's going to get in at the next station."

"And are you going to leave me so soon, Augustus?"

"My love, I would willingly give ten years of my life if I could but stay with you longer. But if I don't go now I shall be fined sixpence for being late at our debating society."

"It's all very well to call me lazy," said Weary William, sardonically, as he gave his left shoulder a rest and started to prop up the wall of the Socialists' Arms with his right; "but if I was as rich as these 'ere Park Lane blokes they'd be talking about my impressive repose of manner."

Father (meditating on Time's changes): "Ah, yes, the fashion of this world passeth away."

Daughter: "Indeed it does, papa: I shall want a new hat next week!"

"Don't you think," suggested the old friend of the family, "that you would do well to keep a watch on your son?"

"Impossible," replied young Gailey's father; "it wouldn't be long before he'd exchange it for a pawn-ticket."

"Hi!" shouted the rich man, peering cautiously over the stairway. "I want you!"

"Well," chuckled the burglar, reaching for the silver, "I'm at your service, sir!"

"It's funny," said the little pig,
"They didn't build me right,
And make my stomach just as big
As is my appetite."

Jaspar: "Many a wise word is spoken in jest."

Jumpuppe: "Yes; but they can't compare with the number of foolish ones that are spoken in earnest."

SMILE!

When trouble after you doth chase,
Why, turn and stare her in the face,
And smile.
And she will hurry from your sight—
A smile will fill her full of fright;
So smile.
When worry hustles after you,
And dyes the world a sombre hue,
Just smile.
A grin will drive her far away,
So let your laughter muscles play,
And smile.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Should the weather be favourable, sow early peas in the beginning of the month, and on slight hotbeds sow salads, carrots, and kidney beans. Lay edgings in fine weather. Mignonette, etc., may be sown in pots, and a few hardy annuals on a warm border. In houses, cinerarias, primulas, camellias, etc., will now be in flower. Protect plants with litter, etc., in frosty weather.

THE PARIS FLOODS.

THE BURIAL OF SIR JOHN MOORE.

It was the expressed wish of Sir John Moore that if he fell in battle he should be buried where he had fallen. This was accordingly done, and the famous poem by the Rev. Charles Wolfe gives a faithful account of the sad ceremony on the battle-field of Corunna. Wolfe's literary reputation rests upon this one poem, which was published anonymously in an Irish newspaper in 1817 and was for many years unclaimed. Wolfe died in 1823 at the early age of thirty-two. His literary compositions were collected and published in 1825.

PROVERBS ABOUT WOMEN.

The Spanish rhyme has it: "Were a woman as little as she is good, a pea-pod would make her a gown and a hood."

An old English saying: "If a man lose a woman and a farthing he will be sorry he lost the farthing."

The French adage: "A man of straw is worth a woman of gold."

The German: "There are only two good women in the world—one dead and the other can't be found."

A Scottish saying is: "Honest men marry soon; wise men never."

In Fife they say: "The next best thing to no wife is a good wife."

The Arabian declares: "Words are women; deeds are men."

The Persian asserts that women and dragons are best out of the world.

The Corsican says: "Just as a good and a bad horse both need the spur, a good and a bad woman both need the stick."

THE PARIS FLOODS.

Towards the end of January, 1910, Paris was visited by a terrible flood. The Seine rose steadily, until street after street had to be evacuated, and entire business and residential sections had to be abandoned. For days the city was at the mercy of the insidious enemy, and the feeling of terror which pervaded all ranks of society was greater than at any time since the dark days of the Revolution. All the train services were disorganised, and many factories closed. Provisions became scarce, and prices rose to famine point. Great numbers of sailors and watermen came to the assistance of the authorities in rescuing the residents of the flooded districts. On January 28th the waters began to recede, after doing damage to the extent of £40,000,000.

H.M. QUEEN MARY.

Queen Mary was born on May 26th, 1867, and was bred in the traditions of the Victorian Court. She is by nature practical rather than imaginative, careful and punctilious in all money matters, and keenly interested in the everyday circumstances of her life. She is naturally inclined to be shy and retiring, preferring domestic to public life. She is a wise and devoted mother, and her friends are women of truth and character.

Queen Mary is deeply religious, but her religion is concerned more with conduct than with belief. She is exceedingly generous to the poor, and though she cares little or nothing for sport she is a keen walker.

The King and Queen are singularly happy in their home life, and the King is fortunate in having by his side a counsellor on whose opinions and affection he can always absolutely rely.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

In the kitchen garden in the beginning and end of the month sow peas and beans. Plant chives, shallots, and horse-radish, and early ash-leaved potatoes. Plant strawberries about the end of this month. In the last week sow mignonette and hardy annuals in a warm border for transplanting. Protect wall-trees from east wind. Prune fruit trees before the buds are swelled.

RUSH FOR RUBBER SHARES: SCENES OUTSIDE LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

THE JACKDAW OF RHEIMS.

THE story of the jackdaw of Rheims who stole the cardinal's ring, and who, when the unknown thief was cursed with bell, book, and candle, endured all the penalties called down upon his head, is one of the most popular of the "Ingoldsby Legends." The author of the "Legends" was the Rev. Richard Barham, who contributed most of them to "Bentley's Miscellany" under the name of Thomas Ingoldsby. They show much humour and an extraordinary gift of rhyme, although as poetry they do not rise to a very high level.

MILADY'S PURSE.

SHE was an heiress, and the purse
  She carried in her dainty hand
Might well the fortunes reimburse
  Of any spendthrift in the land.
At least, most men imagined so,
  Yet they for years might rack their brains,
And after all would never know
  The total wealth that purse contains.
So here in full we give the list,
From which no item has been missed:
A bit of string, a buttonhook,
A clipping from a cooking-book,
A little Turkish cigarette,
A bit of gum (unused as yet),
Samples of gingham, organdie,
Chiffon, crepon, and dimity,
Besides a shred of mousseline
De soie, a worn-out safety-pin,
A collar button made of bone,
A lock of hair (perhaps her own),
A fashionable modiste's card,
A strip of blue and white foulard,
A picture postal card from Rome,
And just one penny to take her home.

THE RUBBER BOOM OF 1910.

IN the spring of 1910 a sudden mania for speculation in rubber shares seemed to possess all classes of the community. Everyone, from the millionaire to the office-boy, and from the maiden lady to her maid-servant, seemed to be smitten by it, and fortunes were made and lost within the space of a few days. Every day new companies were brought out, and their shares were eagerly snapped up by the public. The list of applications in many cases being kept open for less than an hour. While the boom lasted the Stock Exchange was in a state of unwonted excitement, and stockbrokers found it almost impossible to supply the demands of their clients for shares. Our illustration gives some idea of the wild rush for shares which for some weeks was of daily occurrence.

THE INGENIOUS JAP.

THE people of Japan have adopted a device which prevents their private letters from being opened by others than those for whom they are intended. The postal authorities used to receive countless complaints that letters had been steamed, opened, their contents read, and then re-sealed and forwarded. The use of sealing-wax failed to put an end to the evil. But they have patented a metal disc about a quarter of an inch in diameter, with the initials of the sender on the face. On the opposite side of the disc are six sharp prongs. After the envelope has been sealed, the prongs are run through letter and envelope, pressed down, and fastened by means of a small sealing machine. The initialled side of the disc closely resembles the wax seal used in this country. It weighs less than the wax, and has proved far more satisfactory.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

The main crop of all vegetables—peas, beans, cabbages, onions, leeks, carrots, etc.—should now be sown. Sow asparagus, cauliflower, sea-kale and celery in the last fortnight, and plant the main crop of potatoes; these last should be set in rows two feet apart and ten inches between the sets. Finish the pruning of fruit trees. Transplant last year's layers of carnations into beds or large pots at the end of the month.

AERO FLIGHT: LONDON TO MANCHESTER.

"LORD ULLIN'S DAUGHTER."

THE simple pathos of this touching little poem appeals to every heart. It is the old story of two faithful lovers and an unrelenting father. The lovers flee together, hotly pursued by the old chieftain, and, in endeavouring to cross a loch during a storm, are drowned before the old man's eyes. Thomas Campbell, the author, was well acquainted with the Highland scenes he so graphically depicts. He came of an old Highland family and was for some time a tutor in the district of Appin, having previously held a similar position in the Island of Mull. His most important poem, "The Pleasures of Hope," was published when he was only twenty-one years of age. He died in Boulogne in 1844.

DO YOU KNOW?

Do you know that the bayonet was so called because it was first made at Bayonne, France?

That coffee received its name because it first came to Europe from Kaffa?

That candy was first exported from Candia?

That tobacco was so called from the island of Tobago?

That gin was invented at Geneva and early became an important factor in the commerce of that city?

That the tarantula was a notorious pest in the vicinity of Taranto?

That cambric was made at Cambray?

That muslin was made at Mousseline?

That calico was made at Calicut?

That dimity was made at Damietta?

That milliners first plied their trade at Milan?

A FAMOUS FLIGHT.

THE greatest aerial race the world has ever seen ended at Manchester in the early morning hours of April 28, 1910. M. Paulhan, who landed in the darkness at Trent Valley Station, after having covered 117 miles by aeroplane from London, started again at daybreak, and within an hour and a half flew the remaining sixty-seven miles to Manchester, thus easily winning the prize of £10,000 offered by the Daily Mail.

His rival, Mr. Graham-White, who had landed fifty-seven miles behind him on the previous evening, started off in a last despairing attempt to catch his rival, and had almost succeeded in his object when he was once again beaten by the wind and compelled to abandon the flight.

NAMES OF THE DAYS OF THE WEEK

THE names of the days of the week are of Saxon origin, their spelling, of course, being modernised. The Romans named the first two days after the sun and moon respectively, and the Saxons followed their example, but in their own language. Thus Sunnan-daeg is our Sunday and Monan-daeg our Monday. The other five days were named after gods or other mythical persons whom they worshipped. Tuesday after Tiu, the god of war (Tiu's-daeg); Wednesday, or Woden's-daeg, after Woden, a warlike god of high repute in northern nations; Thursday, or Thor's-daeg after Thor, the supreme god; Friday (Freya's-daeg) after Freya, the goddess of love and beauty, and wife of Woden; Saturday (Seater's-daeg) after the god Seater, of whom little is known, but who was worshipped by the Saxons.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Plant out annuals raised in pots, and sow annuals for succession. Herbaceous border plants should now be thinned out and staked. Pansies, daisies, and double wallflowers should now be propagated by dividing the roots. If heartsease be also propagated in cuttings and placed in a shady border it will flower in autumn. Continue the sowing of peas, and stick those already up.

KING EDWARD'S LYING-IN-STATE.

A LAKE POET.

THE "Lake School" of poetry was founded by William Wordsworth. Choosing the simplest speech of educated Englishmen as a vehicle for the expression of their thoughts, the poets of the Lake School took their subjects often from among the commonest things, and wrote their poems in the simplest style. These characteristics are seen in Wordsworth's "Two April Mornings," and also in his better-known poem, "We are Seven," in which he sets forth with consummate skill a touching example of child philosophy. A recent critic says of Wordsworth: "If he rarely invests his verse with the lyric enthusiasm of Shelley, he gave his poetry, as a whole, the sustaining fertility of philosophy, the freshness and vigour of original observation, and the tender sincerity of a life set four-square with the noblest aspirations of the race."

KING EDWARD'S LYING-IN-STATE.

ON Tuesday, May 17th, 1910, the body of King Edward VII was removed from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall, where it lay in State until the following Friday. An amazing concourse of people assembled each day to gain entrance to the historic Hall. They streamed ceaselessly and unendingly through the Hall from six o'clock in the morning until ten at night, and formed up outside in a huge queue six miles long.

No more astounding sight has been witnessed than this determined, persistent throng of mourners. They took hours to arrive at their destination; their journey through the funeral chamber of the King lasted at the most a few minutes.

ELEGY IN A COUNTRY CHURCH-YARD.

GRAY'S "Elegy" is one of the finest poems in any language. The dignity with which the thoughts are expressed, the immense range of allusion and description with which they are illustrated, and the finished grace of the language in which they are embodied give this poem all the wonderful perfection of an antique gem. Thomas Gray was born in London in 1716, but most of his life was spent in Cambridge, where he became Professor of Modern History. He made his first appearance as a poet in 1747, when he published his "Ode to Eton College," and in 1751 there appeared his celebrated "Elegy," which was received with universal praise. He died in 1771.

THE TOWER OF LONDON.

THE Tower of London is the most famous stronghold in the country. It has been by turns a fortress, a palace, and a prison, and is now used as a place of arms and a barracks. It consists of a Keep 90 feet high, called the White Tower; and, while tradition assigns to Julius Cæsar the commencement of it, it is usual to date its foundation from the time of William the Conqueror (1070). It is surrounded by towers, barracks, and armouries, and the whole area, extending to about 13 acres, is surrounded by a moat. The Chapel of St. John, within the White Tower, is one of the best examples of Early English architecture in England. The Traitors' Gate, giving water access from the river, dates from the time of William Rufus, as also does St. Thomas's Tower. The regalia of England is housed within the Tower.

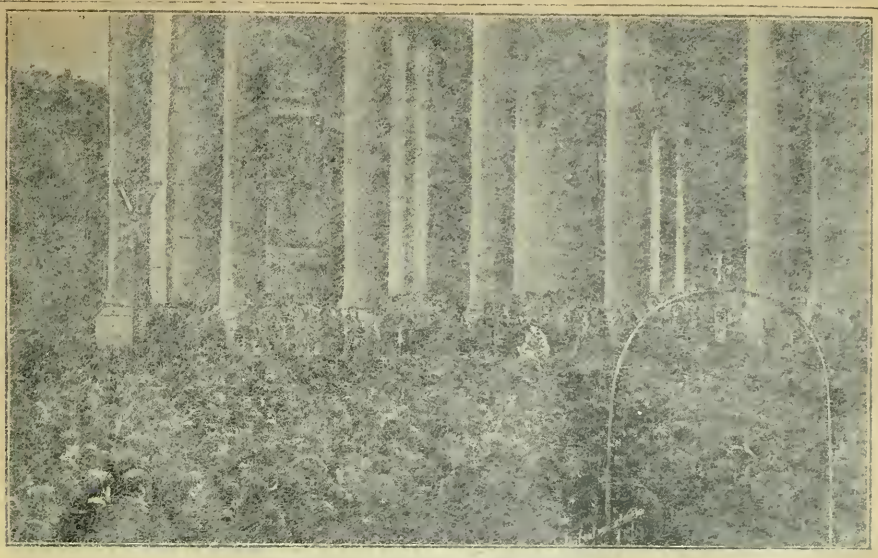
GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Turnips are to be sown for succession in the first week of this month, and for a full autumn crop in the third week. Peas and beans should be sown for late crops. Early in the month vegetable marrows should be got out. Birds now begin to attack cherry trees, so the protection of the fruit should be attended to. Plentifully water newly-planted seedlings and all hot-house plants. Commence the grafting of roses.



PROCLAMATION OF KING GEORGE V.

THE VILLAGE BLACKSMITH.

HENRY WADSWORTH LONGFELLOW, the greatest of American poets, was born at Portland, Maine, on February 27th, 1807. The publication of his "Voices of the Night" (1839) and "Ballads" (1841) awakened the world to the fact that a new poetical force had arisen in literature. These volumes included "The Village Blacksmith" (see illustration on almanack page), "The Psalm of Life," "Footsteps of Angels," "The Skeleton in Armour," "The Wreck of the Hesperus," "Excelsior," and "The Beleaguered City," all of them unequalled for simplicity of diction, tenderness, and pathos. Other volumes from his pen followed in rapid succession from 1842 until 1882—the year of his death. Longfellow is entitled to be ranked with the world's great poets. His imagination and intensity of feeling were of a high order, and his sense of melody and proportion was exquisite.

PROCLAMATION OF KING GEORGE V.

ON May 9th, 1910, King George V was proclaimed according to ancient custom by Garter King of Arms. The first part of the picturesque proclamation ceremony was observed in the Friary Court of St. James's Palace. At nine o'clock a.m. the Earl Marshal (the Duke of Norfolk) took his stand on the balcony overlooking the court, surrounded by Heralds and Pursuivants, all in gorgeous uniforms. The great officers of State, ambassadors, and leading members of the nobility watched the ceremony from the balconies and roofs overlooking the court. Garter King of Arms read the proclamation, and then called out in a loud voice "God Save the King!" The trumpeters blew a fanfare, the Guards' band played the National Anthem, the troops presented arms, and the King's colour was lowered in salute for the first time in honour of King George V.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

About the middle and end of the month full crops of celery, celeriac, and endive are to be planted. Early in the month French beans should be sown, and in the last week late crops of broccoli, colewort, and cauliflower. Medicinal and potherbs should now be gathered and dried, and such herbs should be propagated by slips and cuttings. Hedges and evergreens require cutting. In wet weather thin out annuals.

WEST GATE, CANTERBURY.

"A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM."

This play has been happily described as "a lofty and lovely expression of a luxuriant and happy poetic fancy." It has been suggested with much plausibility that it was written for a show or masque to be performed at the wedding festivities of one of Shakespeare's friends or patrons, possibly of the Earl of Southampton, who married Elizabeth Vernon, in 1598. Like so many of his other plays, it is full of the Warwickshire Landscape, though the scene is laid at Athens, and abounds in those charming rural touches which show not only observation but a pure love of nature.

SOME SCHOOLBOY "HOWLERS."

The following is a selection of "howlers" made by schoolboys:—

Lord Raleigh was the first man to see the invisible Armada.

In India a man out of cask may not marry a woman out of another cask.

Tennyson wrote "In Memorandum."

George Elliot left a wife and children to mourn his genii.

Louis XVI was gelatined during the French Revolution.

The Rhine is bordered by wooden mountains.

Gravitation is that which if there were none we should all fly away.

The press to-day is the mouth-organ of the people.

A lie is an aversion of the truth.

Etymology is a man who catches butterflies and stuffs them.

Women's suffrage is the state of suffering to which they were born.

AN ANCIENT GATEWAY.

The quaint old cathedral city of Canterbury contains many relics of bygone ages. Part of the original city walls may still be seen, in which is the well-preserved West Gate of the city, which dates from the year 1380. It forms a striking object to the visitor, who enters the town from the railway station. Among other antiquities, apart from its famous Cathedral, there are three venerable hospitals, which still serve as almshouses; the Dane John, a conical mound attributed to Danish hands; the Norman Keep, erected by Bishop Gundulph; the King's School, established by Henry VIII.; and St. Martin's Church, where Bertha, Ethelbert's queen, worshipped, and where the King himself was baptised.

ROYAL CHILDREN.

The Duke of Cornwall and Rothesay, or "Prince David," as he is affectionately known in the family circle, has been suddenly elevated to a position of high importance by the death of his royal grandfather. The Prince, who was born on June 23rd, 1894, has received a thoroughly sound, practical education, while his robust figure shows that his physical culture has not been neglected. Whist pursuing his naval studies at Osborne and at Dartmouth, he has made hosts of friends by his frank, kindly manner and sympathetic disposition. With the public, too, he is a universal favourite.

As the only girl in a family of boys, the Princess Mary is naturally made much of by her parents and her brothers. The Princess, as will be seen by her portrait, inherits the good looks of the Teck family, and has a very bright and winning manner.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Sow winter and spring spinach in the beginning and end of the month. Begin to earth-up first-planted celery and leeks. Plant out broccoli, savoys, curly kale, and brussels sprouts. A few coleworts may still be planted. Caterpillars should be destroyed. Pick dead leaves off fruit trees and bushes. Destroy wasps' nests. All bands tied round buds and grafts should now be loosened, and removed if not required.

THE THAMES AND ISIS FROM IFFLEY BRIDGE.

THE LOSS OF THE "ROYAL GEORGE."

Cowper's stirring poem bearing the above title describes in thrilling language a great catastrophe. The Royal George, a man-of-war carrying 103 guns, was lost off Spithead on August 29th, 1782. She was undergoing some repairs, and was careened over, when a gust of wind overset her and she sank. Hundreds of dead bodies were washed ashore and were buried in Kingston Churchyard. William Cowper has been well called the Poet of the Affections. His life was a peculiarly sad one. From an early age he suffered from fits of depression which ultimately resulted in insanity. He died in 1825, and was buried in the parish church of East Dereham.

WHERE MARBLE IS FOUND.

About three-fourths of the white marble used in the world at the present day comes from the Carrara district of Italy. The marble mountains extend some twelve miles; they consist of mountain peaks going up to an altitude of 6,000 feet. The sides of these mountains are scored with valleys and ravines, which have only three outlets—Carrara, Massa, and Seravezza. On the sides of these valleys are the different quarries, of which there are some 600, "producing annually about 200,000 tons." The water coming from these ravines turns innumerable sawmills, which slab annually some 60,000 tons of marble. The towns are full of workshops and studios. The marble businesses support some 10,000 people.

THE THAMES FROM IFFLEY.

From its source to its mouth the river Thames is full of interest, and in its upper reaches it winds through scenery of unsurpassed beauty. It takes its rise in the Cotswold Hills, its early course consisting of the Leach, Colne, and Churn. In passing Oxford it receives the name of the Isis, and becomes the Thames after receiving the Thame at Dorchester. Our illustration conveys a good idea of the appearance of the upper part of the Thames in summer, when its surface is covered with steam and motor launches, punts, and rowing-boats. Many house-boats also are moored along the banks, and make a brilliant show. Of the many regattas which are held during the season, Henley regatta is the most famous, and attracts crowds of oarsmen and sight-seers from all parts of the Kingdom.

GIRLS.

Don't fidget.

Don't abuse a book of any kind.

Don't wear rings on dirty hands.

Don't neglect to have your nails trim and clean.

Don't bite your nails.

Don't sit while your elders stand.

Don't converse loudly in a public conveyance.

Don't wear much jewellery, especially in the street.

Don't talk in an affected manner. To talk without effort is, after all, the great charm.

GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

In the fruit garden the chief work is the gathering and storing of the autumnal sorts of apples and pears. The summer pruning and training of fruit trees should now be finished. Plant strawberries for a main crop. In the flower garden remove at once all dead flowers and dead leaves, and keep down weeds—this is a lively time of the year with them. Sow hardy annuals. Earth up celery and plant lettuce for winter.

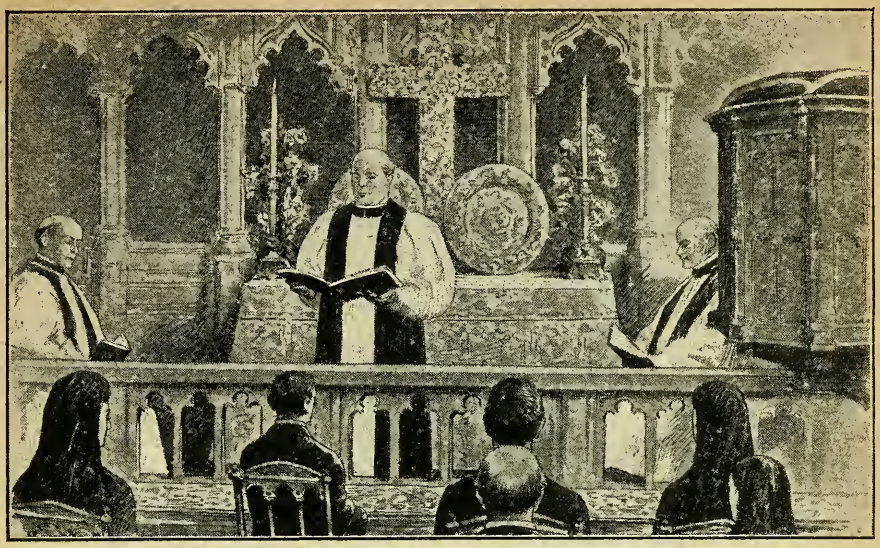
GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

Pinks, carnations, auriculas, etc., should be placed in their winter quarters. Propagation by cuttings should still be proceeded with, but it is to be observed that spring cuttings are far better than those taken late in autumn. Gather seeds of hollyhock and dahlia, if ripe, and prepare beds for tulips, hyacinths, etc. Take up scarlet lobelia. Fences should now be repaired and drains cleared, and the garden kept neat.



THE CONFIRMATION OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.

"THE DESERTED VILLAGE."

GOLDSMITH'S masterpiece, "The Deserted Village," appeared in 1770 as a companion poem to "The Traveller," written in a like style. As long as the world lasts, men and women will accord to sweet Auburn the title which the poet has conferred on it—that of "loveliest village of the plain." It was, and is, valued not merely for its peculiar smoothness and general poetical charm, but for its morality, piety, and elevating principles. Goldsmith's father was an Irish clergyman whose living was near the village of Lissoy, in Westmeath, and here the scene of the poem is supposed to be laid. After many vicissitudes Goldsmith rose to literary fame in London, where his brilliant and eccentric life came to a close in 1774.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL.

ST. PAUL'S CATHEDRAL stands at the top of Ludgate Hill, London, rather too closely hemmed in by buildings to show to advantage. The first stone was laid on June 21st, 1675, and, under Sir Christopher Wren, the edifice was opened for public worship in 1710. A Latin cross in ground plan, it projects internally at the west end of the nave. Including the portico, it measures 500 feet from east to west and 280 feet from north to south. Its height from the pavement to the top of the cross on the dome is 370 feet. Among the chief ornaments added during recent years are a series of glass mosaics by Sir W. B. Richmond; and a magnificent marble reredos. In Roman times a temple of Diana is believed to have stood on the site of St. Paul's.

A MEMORABLE CHARGE.

"IT is magnificent, but it is not war," was the comment of the French General, Bosquet, on the ever-memorable "Charge of the Six Hundred" at Balaclava. As the enemy seemed to be withdrawing, Lord Raglan directed the light cavalry brigade to advance rapidly to the front and try to prevent the enemy carrying away their guns. But in the meanwhile the Russians had been able to re-form. In the altered circumstances the order meant certain death; but Lord Lucan conceived it to be his duty to attack at all hazards. He gave the fatal order to Major-General the Earl of Cardigan, and then ensued that wonderful display of valour immortalised in Tennyson's stirring poem. Six hundred and seventy men went forth on that fearful ride "into the jaws of death." Only one hundred and ninety-eight returned.

THE CONFIRMATION OF THE PRINCE OF WALES.

THE Prince of Wales was confirmed by the Archbishop of Canterbury in the private chapel of Windsor Castle on St. John Baptist's day (June 24th), 1910. Queen Alexandra made her first public appearance since the funeral of her royal husband, and amongst the other relatives present were the King and Queen, the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, the Empress Marie, Princess Mary, and Prince Albert. The Prince of Wales, clad in his cadet uniform, stood with bent head at the centre of the altar rails, and solemnly took upon himself the promises and pledges his godfathers and godmothers made on his behalf nearly sixteen years before.

Finish taking up potatoes, carrots, beet, and parsnips. THE SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION.

"YOUNG LOCHINVAR."

This spirited poem is one of the most popular of Sir Walter Scott's Border ballads. Sir Walter was greatly attracted by the old ballad poetry of Scotland, and he took them as models for his own. His poems are all lays and romances of chivalry, but infinitely finer than any that had ever before been written. That element of life which comes of the excited feeling and earnest belief of the writer is never wanting. This animation, fervour, enthusiasm—call it by what name we will—exists in greater strength in no poetry than in that of Scott. It was this, more than anything else, which at once took the public admiration by storm and which still holds it. Scott was born on August 15th, 1771, and died on September 21st, 1832, within sight and sound of the river Tweed whose praises he had so often sung.

HOW TO KEEP YOUNG.

Let your daily exercise be a brisk walk for a couple of miles in the fresh morning air.

Eat only plain, nourishing food, with abundance of good, ripe fruit, preference being given to grapes, bananas, apples, and oranges.

Never neglect the daily bath and rub down summer and winter.

Have plenty of fresh air day and night both in living and sleeping rooms.

Live a useful life.

Avoid worry and anything which has a tendency to encourage sleeplessness, such as brain work late at night, cold feet, heavy bedclothes, etc.

Retire to rest punctually at ten o'clock, and get up between six and seven in the morning.

Be temperate in all things.

THE SOUTH POLE EXPEDITION.

Captain Scott's second South Polar expedition left Cardiff on June 15th by the Terra Nova. It is by far the best-equipped expedition ever sent to either the North or South Polar regions. Not only as regards ponies, dogs, and motor sledges, but also as regards the size and efficiency of the scientific staff and the extent and accuracy of the instruments carried, this expedition is far better found than any of its predecessors. During the Antarctic winter preparations will be made for a great effort to reach the South Pole in the following season. Sir Ernest Shackleton's explorations have shown that the first phase of that journey must be over the plateau of the Great Barrier, the second a climb through mountain passes, and the third a traverse of a lofty inland plain. Every Briton must wish good luck to Captain Scott and his brave little band, and trust that their efforts may be crowned with success.

SLEEP AND SLEEP TIME.

Do not sleep with flowers in your room, for during the night they will give off the carbonic acid gas they have been living on in the day, and consume some of the oxygen which you need for your own use.

Sleep is the time when brain repair takes place, and two hours of slumber obtained before midnight are worth more than three afterwards.

Sleep is soundest in the first three or four hours.

If you wish to preserve your youth and good looks you must not indulge in late hours. Insufficient sleep affects the nervous system, the skin loses its freshness, and the eyes get a tired, drawn look.

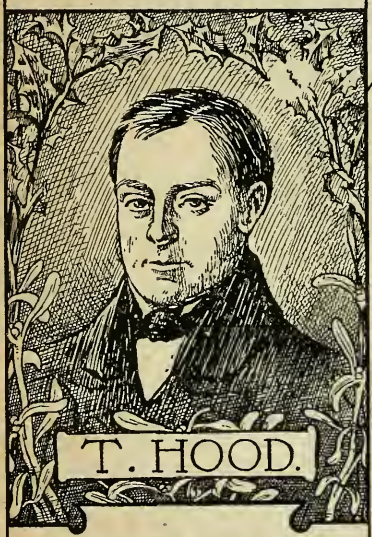
MISFORTUNE IS GOOD FOR SOMETHING.



GARDENING FOR THE MONTH.

In the kitchen garden a few peas and beans may be sown. Turn up the ground thoroughly for exposure to the frost and snow. If the weather be mild attend to the operation of pruning. The roots of tender trees, such as the apricot and peach, should be mulched over, as they are often so far affected by frost as to be barren during the ensuing year. Inspect fruit in store-room at frequent intervals.

THE ROYAL MINT, LONDON.

"THE SONG OF THE SHIRT."

THE poems of Tom Hood are remarkable for a curious mixture of grotesque humour with great depth of feeling. His claim to fame rests upon chiefly three poems: "The Song of the Shirt," "Eugene Aram," and the "Bridge of Sighs." Those who look upon him as merely a humorist do him a great injustice. There can be no question about his being the greatest wit of his age, but he also proved himself to be capable at times of the deepest seriousness and most delicate pathos. His "Song of the Shirt," by calling public attention to the evils of the "sweating" system, has done much to alleviate the lot of its victims.

OBSERVATIONS OF ARISTOTLE.

WHEN you find
A red man to be faithful,
A tall man to be wise,
A fat man to be swift of foot,
A lean man to be a fool,
A handsome man not to be proud,
A poor man not to be envious,
A knave to be no liar,
An upright man not too bold to his own loss,
One that drawls not to be crafty,
One that winks not to be false,
A sailor and hangman to be pitiful,
A poor man to build churches,
A quack doctor to have a good conscience,
A bailiff to be merciful,
An hostess not to overcharge,
And an usurer to be charitable,
Then say you have found a prodigy.

THE ROYAL MINT.

THE Royal Mint, on Tower Hill, London, was erected in 1810, and is controlled by a master and a deputy-master. The metal—gold, silver, or bronze—is first cast into ingots, and then rolled into sheets. The sheets are drawn to gauge thickness in a drawing machine and then passed to the punching machine, which cuts out discs of the diameter of the coin to be made. The discs are then rolled between revolving discs, and leave the machine of a gauge diameter, and with the edge smooth. The next operation is the stamping of the disc on both sides, and milling the edge. This is accomplished in the coining press at one operation by means of three dies. The coins are stamped at the rate of about 120 per minute. Each coin is inspected for flaws or defects after leaving the press. The final operation is weighing, which is effected by automatic weighing machines, which also sorts the coins out into those too heavy, too light, and of the correct weight.
